

Chinquapin Acceptable Use Policy

Computer resources (including Internet access) are provided to students to use responsibly at Chinquapin. All students must understand and follow the following rules regarding the computers.

- Students may use the computers only after receiving appropriate instruction.
- Academic purposes ALWAYS take priority over personal activities.
- Students may not use the computers for commercial or political purposes.
- Student users must follow the student monitor's instructions.
- Computers may be used only during authorized times or with teacher permission.
- Students may only use the computers for academic work during Study Hall periods. Personal browsing, game playing, and email are prohibited during these times.
- Modification, abuse, and vandalism of hardware are not permitted.
- Students may not delete or copy software on the computers.
- Students may not install software or applications on the computers. This includes software that can be downloaded from the Internet.
- Students may not hack, attempt to gain access to, or modify computer system resources or files which are not their own.
- Students may not use the computers to create, download, store, or distribute software which is obscene or pornographic.
- Students may not use the computers to create, download, store, or distribute software which is discriminatory, disrespectful, offensive, hateful, or suggests violence towards any person, sex, ethnic or religious group, or race.
- Students may not reveal addresses, phone numbers, or other personal information about any student.
- It is the student's responsibility to report any problems immediately to a student monitor or teacher.

Use of computers is a privilege, not a right. Failure to follow these guidelines will result in loss of privileges and disciplinary measures.
